

Signal Hill Petroleum Honored by City Planning Commission With Beautification Award

June 16, 2014 – Signal Hill, CA –The Signal Hill Planning Commission presented its 1st Quarter Beautification Award to Signal Hill Petroleum at the June 10th Planning Commission meeting in recognition of the company’s sustainable approach to improving its well sites. Signal Hill Petroleum received the award for the landscape improvements at their well located at Willow Street and Walnut Avenue.

The Willow/Walnut well site was one of 150 properties beautified by Signal Hill Petroleum. The project consisted of the installation of a low-use water drip irrigation system, new fencing, a new electric gate and landscaping the area by trimming existing trees and planting more than 500 colorful plants and shrubs

“We are honored to receive this award and are committed to continuing to modify our look to keep pace with the continued growth of our community,” said Sean McDaniel, Vice President of Production and Operations at Signal Hill Petroleum. “We still have work to do and are committed to continue improving each of our well sites to compliment the beautiful city of Signal Hill. “

Over the past 3 years Signal Hill Petroleum has undertaken an extensive program to improve its individual well sites through various cosmetic upgrades including building new fences, landscaping, and painting. Going well beyond local & state regulations regarding property improvements, the company has completed over 150 site renovations.

The Planning Commission grants quarterly Beautification Awards to property owners who have recently invested time and effort into improving their property.
